Bundeswehr - Wikipedia

The Bundeswehr (German: [b nd s ve] , Federal Defence) is the unified armed forces of Germany and their civil administration and procurement authorities. The States of Germany are not allowed to maintain armed forces of their own, since the German Constitution states that matters of defense fall into the sole responsibility of the federal government .

How was the Bundeswehr recieved when it was formed in 1955?

In short, controversial. There was a big opposition against the rearmament, in the parliament and in the population. The republic of Germany was six years old, the Second World War was clearly visible in cities and families (POW returned from the UdSSR in that year).

The Bundeswehr and Western Society: Stephen F. Szabo ...

The West German armed forces, the Bundeswehr, comprise the largest conventional defense force in NATO Europe. They have become the linchpin of Western defense and will be even more central to European security in the 1990s as the Alliance moves toward a greater emphasis on conventional defense and a European pillar.
